Welcome to myWorld Social Studies™, where social studies comes to life through storytelling, literacy instruction, and streamlined materials that are flexible for today’s elementary classroom. The program focuses on stories from our world—engaging students and encouraging them to be thoughtful, literate citizens.

Interactive and Dynamic Elementary Social Studies Instruction

- Connect social studies content to literacy instruction every day
- Build knowledgeable, thoughtful, and active citizens
- Engage with interactive, hands-on learning
- Print, digital and blended program options
Flexible for Teachers
With print, digital, active and blended options, myWorld Social Studies is a program that works for you, so it can work for your classroom. Create your own tests, gauge understanding with formative and summative assessment options, and differentiate instruction with every lesson.

Read and Write Every Day
Every minute spent in myWorld Social Studies is a minute spent in literacy. Reading, writing, and storytelling bring social studies content to life. Welcome to myWorld Social Studies—connecting social studies content and literacy instruction every day and every minute.

Engage Students with Interactive Learning
Bring interactive learning into your classroom and engage students with features like digital eText, songs and videos, hands-on activities, and digital game-like activities.
Read and Write Every Day

Write in Response to Reading
Students are provided with several opportunities for writing throughout every chapter. They begin with the Big Question followed by drawing and writing in response to reading.

Write to Sources
Challenge students to draw evidence from informational texts and refer to ideas, events, and facts presented in the text, while writing in their interactive worktext.

Practice Active Reading
Students practice active reading skills such as drawing conclusions, identifying main idea and details, and cause and effect.

It is important to be a responsible citizen.

Responsible means taking care of important things. When you clean your room, you are being responsible at home. When you help clean up a park, you are being responsible in your community.

3. Draw a picture of how you can help in your community.

Write to Sources
Challenge students to draw evidence from informational texts and refer to ideas, events, and facts presented in the text, while writing in their interactive worktext.

Practice Active Reading
Students practice active reading skills such as drawing conclusions, identifying main idea and details, and cause and effect.
Central to the myWorld Social Studies program is the myStory Book writing process. Students write to transcend subject matter and gain a broader perspective of the world around them.

Build Academic Vocabulary

Students build background knowledge through academic vocabulary instruction and transfer understanding across disciplines.

Write for an Audience

Assess student understanding. The writing strand culminates with students publishing their own piece of narrative writing using the digital publishing studio from TikaTok.com.

Bring Social Studies into ELA

Nonfiction Leveled Readers allow you to integrate social studies in your ELA block.
Engage Students with Interactive Learning

myWorld Social Studies provides a variety of options for students to demonstrate and transfer their understanding of the chapter content.

Digital Text with Audio
Pearson eText contains the complete digital textbook with audio links, note taking, highlighting tools, and other digital features to support learning.

myStory Songs
A fun, engaging song kicks off each chapter, with animated text online.
Engage Students with Interactive Learning

Interactivities
Students interact with digital activities linked to the Big Question and formative assessments like the Got It! quiz.

myWorld Activities
Cooperative learning activities range from mapping, graphing, and role playing, to read-alouds and analyzing primary sources.
Flexible for Teachers

myWorld Social Studies’ resources and assessments are flexible enough for today’s elementary teacher. The program works for you, so it can work for your classroom.

Print, Digital, or Blended Options

myWorld Social Studies is a robust and flexible program that provides a print, digital, active, or blended approach to the elementary classroom.
