Introduction

This document demonstrates how myPerspectives™ English Language Arts meets the objectives of the AP® English Language and Composition Exam. Correlation page references are to the Student Edition and Teacher’s Edition and are cited by selection or feature title.

myPerspectives™ English Language Arts is a learning environment that focuses on a connected approach to student learning. Students read texts and engage in activities that inspire thoughtful conversation, discussion, and debate.

Students will encounter authors’ perspectives as they read literature from across time periods and cultures. Students will listen to the perspectives of their peers through conversations and collaborative activities. And, as students read the literature and engage in activities in myPerspectives, they will formulate—and defend—their opinions as they develop their own perspectives.

In each unit of study, students will read classic and contemporary fiction and nonfiction texts, and view/listen to media selections, all related to an Essential Question. Students will use technology to interact with texts and activities, and they can write directly in their Student Edition to make interaction with texts more meaningful.

Write for a variety of purposes. Students’ writing experiences in the course must exceed the timed writings that are assessed on the AP English Language and Composition Exam. For instance, students might undertake a lengthy and intensive inquiry into a problem or controversy, consulting and evaluating arguments and viewpoints presented in a variety of sources, and using those sources to provoke, complicate, and/or support their own responses to the problem or controversy. Students’ writing in the course should also go through a process that includes feedback from other readers, revision, and proofreading. Finally, forms other than the essays featured in the exam have a place in the course, such as personal narrative, letters, advertisements, reviews, etc.	SE/TE: Argumentative Writing: Performance Task: Write an Argument, 168–173; Write an Argument, 494–499; Performance Based Assessment: 245–246, 537–538; Writing to Sources: Argument, 215, 246; Literary Criticism, 538; Critical Review, 150; Persuasive Letter, 484; Review Graphic Novel, 632–633; Writing to Compare: Opinion Article, 528–529 Informative/ Explanatory Writing: Performance Task: Write an Informative Essay, 298–303; Write an Explanatory Essay, 640–645; Writing to Sources: Essay, 97; Encyclopedia Entry, 162; Newspaper Report, 297; Essay, 311, 659; Team Report, 333; Biography, 622; Job Application, 639; Performance-Based Assessment: Informative Essay, 351–352; Explanatory Essay, 689–691 Narrative Writing: Performance Task: Write a Nonfiction Narrative, 52–57; Write a Narrative, 736–743; Writing to Sources: Alternative Endings, 50; Narrative, 790; Sequel, 720; Short Story, 734; Original Literary Work, 769
Respond to different writing tasks according to their unique rhetorical and composition demands, and translate that rhetorical assessment into a plan for writing. Create and sustain original arguments based on information synthesized from readings, research, and/or personal observation and experience. Students learn to see argument as addressing a wide range of purposes in a variety of formats. They should be able to recognize general features of arguments, such as claims, evidence, qualifiers, warrants, and conclusions. Students' ability to create informed arguments depends largely upon their reading of primary and secondary sources. The more that students discern argument as entering into a conversation with others, the more credible and cogent their own arguments become.	SE/TE: Craft and Structure: Purpose and Persuasion, 31; Author's Claims and Ideas, 221; Argument, 267, 289; Argumentative Text, 513; Author's Style: Use of Rhetoric, 222 TE only: Personalize for Learning: Clarifying Elements of an Argument, 221, 288 Argumentative Writing: Performance Task: Write an Argument, 168–173; Write an Argument, 494–499; Writing to Sources: Argument, 215, 246; Literary Criticism, 538; Critical Review, 150; Persuasive Letter, 484; Review Graphic Novel, 632–633; Writing to Compare: Opinion Article, 528–529 Performance Task: Speaking and Listening Focus: Present and Argument, 238–239; Performance Based Assessment Prep: Review Evidence for an Argument, 245; Present an Argument, 530–531; Review Evidence for an Argument, 537

Demonstrate understanding of the conventions of citing primary and secondary sources. Students must learn to use the conventions recommended by professional organizations such as the Modern Language Association (MLA), the University of Chicago Press (The Chicago Manual of Style), or the American Psychological Association (APA).
