Peter N. Stearns
Peter N. Stearns is provost and professor of history at George Mason University. He received his Ph.D. from Harvard University. Before moving to George Mason University, he taught at Rutgers University, the University of Chicago, and Carnegie Mellon, where he won the Robert Doherty Educational Leadership Award and the Elliott Dunlap Smith Teaching Award. He has taught world history for more than 15 years. He currently serves as chair of the Advanced Placement World History Committee and also founded and is the editor of the Journal of Social History. In addition to textbooks and readers, he has written studies of gender and consumerism in a world history context. Other books address modern social and cultural history and include studies on gender, old age, work, dieting, and emotion. His most recent book in this area is American Fear: Causes and Consequences of High Anxiety. Michael Adas
Michael Adas is the Abraham Voorhees Professor of History and a board of governor’s chair at Rutgers University in New Brunswick, New Jersey. Over the past couple of decades his teaching has focused on patterns and processes of global and comparative history. His courses on race and empire in the early modern and industrial eras and on world history in the 20th century have earned him a number of teaching prizes. In addition to texts on world history, Adas has written mainly on the comparative history of colonialism and its impact on the peoples and societies of Asia and Africa. His books include Machines as the Measure of Men: Science, Technology, and Ideologies of Western Dominance, which won the Dexter Prize, and the recently published Dominance by Design: Technological Imperatives and America’s Civilizing Mission. He is currently writing a global history of the First World War. Stuart B. Schwartz Stuart B. Schwartz was born and educated in Springfield, Massachusetts, and then attended Middlebury College and the Universidad Autonoma de Mexico. He has an M.A. and Ph.D. from Columbia University in Latin American history. He taught for many years at the University of Minnesota and joined the faculty at Yale University in 1996. He has also taught in Brazil, Puerto Rico, Spain, France, and Portugal. He is a specialist on the history of colonial Latin America, especially Brazil, and is the author of numerous books, notably Sugar Plantations in the Formation of Brazilian Society (1985), which won the Bolton Prize for the best book in Latin American History. He is also the author of Slaves, Peasants, and Rebels (1992), Early Latin America (1983), and Victors and Vanquished (1999). He has held fellowships from the Guggenheim Foundation and the Institute for Advanced Study (Princeton). For his work on Brazil he was recently decorated by the Brazilian government. He continues to read widely in the history and anthropology of Latin America, Africa, and early modern Europe. Marc Jason Gilbert is the holder of an NEH supported Chair in World History at Hawaii Pacific University in Honolulu, Hawaii. He is a former University System of Georgia Distinguished Professor of Teaching and Learning. He received his Ph.D in history in 1978 at UCLA, where he built his own program in world history out of a mixture of more traditional fields.

He is a founding member of the World History Association and one of its initial elected officers. More than a decade ago, he founded and served as executive director of the Southeastern World History Association. He has co-directed two Summer Institutes for Teaching Advanced Placement World History. He has attempted to bring a global dimension to the study of south and southeast Asian history in numerous articles and books, such as Why the North Won the Vietnam War

Description of Submission

1. IDENTIFY AND DESCRIBE THE COMPONENTS OF THE MAJOR TOOL.

The Major Tool is comprised of the items necessary to meet the standards and requirements of the category for which it is designed and submitted. As part of this section, include a description of the educational approach of the submission.

Educational Approach

(The information provided here will be used in the instructional materials catalog in the case of adoption of the program. Please limit your response to 500 words or less.)

Response:

World Civilizations, AP* Edition encourages students to grasp concepts and patterns across a huge breadth of time and space and helps to facilitate global understandings and connections in the classroom. This text captures a truly global approach by discussing and comparing major societies and focusing on their interactions. World Civilizations, AP* Edition presents a clear factual framework while stimulating analysis about global contacts, regional patterns, and the whole process of change and continuity on a world stage.
This text identifies six periods in world history. Each period is determined by three basic criteria: a geographical rebalancing among major civilizational areas, an increase in the intensity and extent of contact across civilizations (or, in the case of the earliest period, crossregional contact), and the emergence of new and roughly parallel developments in many major civilizations. Based on "comparative work and focuses on global processes," this text helps students see the history of the world as one based on multiple disciplines. The structure and features of the book stimulate the AP students' interest and reinforce learning. An AP correlation to the College Board's course topic standards for World History is provided in the preface. Each period offers a distinctive set of themes, or Big Concepts, that are defined in general terms and then explored in terms of particular regions. Part introductions identify the fundamental new characteristics and new levels of interaction that define each period. Part introductions discuss the conditions that set the stage for the developments that define each new period in world history. They identify the characteristics of the period of world history covered in the part, and recap the continuities that exist from one period to the next. Two world maps at the beginning of each part introduction provide a graphic reference for the major changes of the period. Part timelines list the major events of the chronological period covered. In-text pronunciation guide help familiarize students with new terminology by providing pronunciations of key words and phrases that will help students become comfortable when discussing text passages. The marginal glossary positions the definition of conceptual terms, frequently used foreign terms, names of important geographic regions, and key characters on the world stage on the page for students to review and study when preparing for the AP Exam. AP* test prep practice, including multiple-choice and free-response test, appear at the end of each chapter to help students review content in preparation for the AP World History exam.

MyHistoryLab: The following operating system and browser configurations are supported: Operating Systems Browsers PC Windows XP?Windows Vista Internet Explorer 7.0?Internet Explorer 8.0?Firefox 3.x Macintosh Mac OS 10.5.x?Mac OS 10.4.x Safari 3.x?Safari 4.x (10.5.x only)?Firefox 3.x * Features and functionality new to this website edition were tested with and support these browsers. To check your operating system, turn on your computer and look for information on your operating system as the computer boots up. You can also find this information in your computer settings. For example, if you have a PC you can look at "View System Information" in "My Computer," which is accessible from the Start menu. If you are unsure of the browser version you are using, launch the browser and select Help from the menu bar. Next, select "About Browser" (the browser name and the exact wording of the selection will vary) and a window will open with your browser name and version. AOL or CompuServe If you are using a proprietary browser such as AOL or CompuServe, you may use that browser to connect to the Internet. To view website content and features, however, you must then use one of the browsers listed above. Cookies and JavaScript options MyHistoryLab may use both cookies and JavaScript technology. (Cookies provide a way for the Web site to identify users and keep track of their preferences.) Both of these features must be turned on in your browser and are usually enabled by default. See your browser Help for instructions on how to view or change these browser options. Popup windows Some features of this website display in a popup browser window. If you are using a browser that offers popup control or are running an add-on program to control popups, you may need to take steps to use such features. The steps to take depend on the browser or add-on program you are using. Plug-ins You will need the following applications to use MyHistoryLab. You can download these applications using the Browser Tune-up within MyHistoryLab. Application Name Version PC MAC Adobe Flash Player 8 8.0 Microsoft PowerPoint Viewer 2003 2004 Adobe Reader 7.0.5 7.0.5 Depending on the content at your site, you may also need to download one or more free plug-ins (such as Adobe® Reader®, Macromedia® Flash™, or Macromedia Shockwave®) You can use the Browser Tune-up within MyHistoryLab check whether a plug-in is installed. If it is not, or you need to upgrade your version, you can follow links to download it. Browser Tune-up The Browser Tune-up utility will tell you whether or not media players and plug-in programs are present on your computer and, when they are present, whether they are up to date. Click Browser Tune-up link to open and work with the Browser Tune-up. In the list of plug-in programs in the center of the Browser Tuneup window, check which plug-ins are currently installed. For a plug-in that you need but which is not installed, click the Get It button to download the latest version. In some cases, you may need to register for the player or plug-in, and you may need to restart your computer when you finish the download and installation. For a plug-in that is installed, click the Test It button to verify that it functions properly. If it does not, follow the on-screen instructions to download a new version. When you finish installing the players or plug-ins your website requires, close the Browser Tuneup, restart your browser, then return to MyHistoryLab. Pearson Education Privacy Statement
Pearson Education ("Pearson") recognizes the importance of protecting the privacy of Personally Identifiable Information about you as a user of our online learning applications, websites and educational evaluation tools ("applications"). Follows is an overview of Pearson's Privacy Policy which is wholly contained within the Pearson End-User License and Privacy Agreement to which end users consent when registering for a Pearson application.
Information considered by Pearson to be Personally Identifiable Information ("PII") is: your full name, address, email address, username and password, phone number, and credit or debit card information. The name of the school you attend or your workplace, date of birth, personal interests, and grade information is also considered personally identifiable information when combined with PII. PII may be used by Pearson to facilitate subscription processing, validate access rights upon login and provide a personalized user experience, and help us improve our products. It will be treated confidentially within Pearson.
Pearson policy is not to share PII with third parties without your consent except as expressly stated herein. However, we may share this information with Pearson affiliated companies for the purpose of supporting the application.
Pearson may use PII to market (i.e. contact users for participation in focus groups, seminars, or product reviews, or provide information on complimentary or upgrade products) only to users ages 13 and above who have opted in to receive such information from Pearson.
Pearson may disclose PII to third parties not affiliated with Pearson, in the following situations: Within application rosters, grade books, or communication tools that facilitate instructor and student engagement. Where disclosure is requested by the educational institution, school district or system in which the user is enrolled, or by applicable state educational authorities, for educational or administrative purposes. In the event of suspected illegal conduct, misappropriating password access, violating Pearson Terms of Use or engaging in academic misconduct or other conduct prohibited by an end-user’s academic institution or workplace.
You should be aware that any PII voluntarily posted to a public area of a Pearson application (posting to a bulletin board or chat room) might be collected and used by others. Pearson cannot prevent such uses.
SPECIAL NOTICE TO PARENTS: Pearson has no intention of seeking PII about minors (children under age 13). If obtained, Pearson’s privacy policies will apply to that information. In addition, if Pearson can identify a user as a minor, the PII will not be used for marketing and promotion. Pearson End-User License and Privacy Agreement
Please print and keep a copy of this End-User License and Privacy Agreement ("Agreement"). Use of this Website constitutes acceptance of this Agreement. If you do not agree to abide by the terms and conditions of this Agreement, please do not register for this Website.
Pearson may change any of the terms in this Agreement at any time. Changes will become effective upon posting. If you do not choose to accept the changes to the terms of this Agreement, you may cancel your access to the Website as described below. Continued use of this Website by you or any other end user under your license constitutes acceptance of the terms of the modified Agreement.
1. The Website
Pearson offers Web-based Websites and other digital assets available through the Internet that require end user registration. This document will refer to these sites and digital assets collectively as "the Website". In the event of a conflict between these terms and conditions and more specific terms and conditions that apply to another Pearson Website, the more specific terms and conditions shall prevail with respect to such conflict.

2. Ownership of the Information, Materials and Software of the Website

You expressly acknowledge and agree that (a) the Website contains information, text, software, photos, video, graphics, music, sounds and other material (called "Materials") that are protected by copyrights, trademarks, trade secrets, patents or other proprietary rights (called "Intellectual Property Rights"), (b) all right, title and interest in and to these Materials and Intellectual Property Rights belong solely and exclusively to Pearson or its licensors; and (c) these Intellectual Property Rights are valid and protected in all forms, media and technologies existing now or developed later.

Pearson may change or discontinue any portion, feature, or content of the Website at any time with or without notice to you; however, Pearson will make reasonable efforts to provide end users notice of significant changes to the Website when feasible and provide alternative materials if substantial portions of the Website are removed.

Pearson may at any time, with or without notice to you, restrict the use and accessibility of the Website as well as limit the duration and amount of use made of the Website. Other than periodic restrictions for the purposes of routine maintenance, such restrictions are typically only made in extraordinary circumstances which are beyond Pearson's control.

Pearson assumes no responsibility for any Materials posted by third parties on the Website or accessed on the Website through hypertext or other computer "links" to sites hosted by third parties that are outside of Pearson's control. Pearson does not endorse products, services or information provided by third parties and shall not be responsible or liable, directly or indirectly, for any damage or loss caused or alleged to be caused by or in connection with, use or reliance on any content, goods or services available on or through any third party site or otherwise posted by third parties on the Website. Further, the inclusion of links on the Website does not imply that the owners of such third party sites have given permission for inclusion of these links, or otherwise sponsored or endorsed Pearson's website.

Pearson is not responsible for the accessibility of third party sites via the Website. Should you discover that a third party link on a Website is broken, no longer pointing to the content so indicated on the Website, or points to a third party site containing infringing content, malicious code, or any offensive, libelous, or otherwise illegal or inappropriate content, email: dmca.agent@pearsoned.com. To ensure Pearson can quickly respond to the issue, your email should include the originating Pearson page URL, the linked page URL and a description of the content in question.

3. Use of the Information and Materials of the Website

3.1 Pearson grants a limited license to all users of the Website that is nonexclusive, personal, and nontransferable. Website Licensees may use, display, and, when such functions are available on the Website, reformat, download, and print Materials obtained through the Website solely for their own personal, non-commercial, educational purposes.

3.2 Login credentials (login name/username and password) may not be shared with others or otherwise disclosed to unauthorized third parties for any purpose whatsoever.

3.3 Except as you may be expressly permitted by this Agreement, you may not use, modify, adapt, reformat, download, upload, post, reproduce, broadcast, publish, display, perform, transfer or redistribute any Materials in any form, format or media or by means of any technology without obtaining the prior written authorization of Pearson and any other owner of the Intellectual Property Rights in such Materials.

3.4 You may, on an occasional and irregular basis, include insubstantial/ portions of Materials from the Website in memoranda, reports and presentations, and only to the extent that such use constitutes "fair use" under applicable copyright and intellectual property law. In each such instance, you must include proximate to any excerpted Materials all copyright, trademark and other notices from the Website (whether or not included in the particular Materials used), and appropriate source attribution to Pearson and its licensors.

3.5 Prohibited uses of Materials:

Except as explicitly permitted under Section 3.4 above or pursuant to express written permission obtained from Pearson:

3.5.1 You may not reproduce, use, sell, transmit, publish, broadcast, or otherwise disseminate or distribute Materials from the Website to anyone, including but not limited to others in the same company, school, college or other organization, whether or not for a charge or other consideration, including but not limited to use in with "course packets" or with courses which do include the Website part of the curriculum.

3.5.2 You may not post Materials from the Website [including your answers to any homework or test questions provided by the Website] to newsgroups, mail lists, electronic bulletin boards, [homework sites, content aggregators, file storage services] or any other on-line destination.
3.5.3 You may not reproduce any illustrations, charts, photographs, outlines, extensive text excerpts, chapters, or e-books included in the Materials for any use outside of the class with which the Website is being used.

3.6 If you wish to request permission to reproduce Materials from the Website for other than the specifically authorized educational purpose, or if you have any questions about the proper way to include such notices, use the information available at http://www.pearsoned.com/legal/permissions.htm to contact the appropriate Pearson representative. Use of content used under license by Pearson may require the permission of the Licensor.

4. End-User Content

4.1 The Website may provide functionalities for users to upload or post comments, ideas, articles, information, data, text, software, music, sound, photographs, graphics, video, messages, and other materials or submissions ("End-User Content"). The views and opinions expressed therein do not necessarily reflect those of Pearson or its licensed content providers or licensors. The end user who posted the End-User Content is solely responsible for such End-User Content.

5.5 obtain or attempt to obtain through any means any Materials, End-User Content, or any other data, content, software or code available on or through the Website ("Website Content") that have not been intentionally made publicly available either by their public display on the Website or through their accessibility by a visible link on the Website.
5.6 violate any measure employed to limit or prevent access to the Website or Website Content;
5.7 violate the security of the Website or attempt to gain unauthorized access to the Website, Website Content, or computer systems or networks connected to any service of the Website through hacking, password mining or any other means;
5.8 interfere or attempt to interfere with the proper working of the Website or any activities conducted on or through the Website, including accessing any Website Content prior to the time that it is intended to be available to the public on the Website;
5.9 take or attempt any action that, in the sole discretion of Pearson, imposes or may impose an unreasonable or disproportionately large load or burden on the Website or the infrastructure on the Website,
5.10 disrupt the normal flow of dialogue or otherwise act in a manner that negatively affects other users' ability to engage in real time exchanges or to normally post messages, articles, or submissions;
5.11 interfere with or disrupt the Website or servers or networks connected to the Website, or disobey any requirements, procedures, policies or regulations of networks connected to the Website; or
5.12 intentionally or unintentionally violate any applicable local, state, national or international law.

6. Use of "Cookies"
The Website uses browser cookies to facilitate registration processing, to validate user role (instructor, student; etc.) upon login and to provide a personalized user experience.

7. Disclosure of Demographic and Personally Identifiable Information
7.1 By using the Website, you agree that Pearson may collect, use, sell, license and otherwise distribute demographic data about end users in aggregated form (so that no user is personally identifiable) to assist in market evaluation and for other purposes as reasonably determined by Pearson.
7.2 Some activities within Website may request users to submit information that is tabulated and stored in a database. The data obtained is used to produce statistics that are integral to the educational value of these activities. Anywhere the requested data is personal in nature, a user's specific responses remain confidential and are not associated with name or e-mail address in any way. By participating in an activity that uses information entered by users for statistical analysis within the activity, you are giving us consent to include your data in the study.
7.3 Pearson will not disclose personally identifiable information associated with your use of the Website (e.g., name, email address, physical address, username and password, activity results) to any third parties not affiliated with Pearson, except: (a) within application rosters, grade books, or communication tools that facilitate instructor and student engagement. Instructors and course administrators have the ability to export grade book information from the Website for the purpose of maintaining educational records; (b) where disclosure is requested by the educational institution, school district or system in which the user is enrolled or by applicable state educational authorities, for educational or administrative purposes, such as evaluating student or instructor participation in the Website activities or for evaluation of the Website's educational efficacy, or (c) in the event of suspected illegal conduct, misappropriating password access, violating Pearson Terms of Use or engaging in academic misconduct or other conduct prohibited by an end-user's academic institution or workplace, personally identifiable information may be disclosed to faculty, administration and/or law enforcement officials in order to facilitate the investigation of such allegations.
7.4 Pearson reserves the right to use personally identifying information to market (i.e. contact users for participation in focus groups, seminars, or product reviews, or provide information on complimentary or upgrade products) only to users ages 13 and above who have opted in to receive marketing information from Pearson. Pearson does not sell such information to any third party.

IF YOU RESIDE IN THE EUROPEAN UNION, CANADA OR OTHER JURISDICTION WITH SIMILAR DATA TRANSFER REGULATIONS, YOU ACKNOWLEDGE BY REGISTERING YOUR EXPLICIT CONSENT THAT THE PERSONAL INFORMATION YOU HAVE PROVIDED MAY BE TRANSFERRED AND STORED IN COUNTRIES OUTSIDE THE EU, CANADA OR YOUR RESIDENT JURISDICTION, INCLUDING THE UNITED STATES. IF YOU FAIL TO PROVIDE YOUR CONSENT, YOU WILL NOT BE PERMITTED TO ACCESS THE SERVICES FOR WHICH REGISTRATION IS REQUIRED. YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION SHALL ONLY BE USED IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE TERMS OF THIS AGREEMENT.

8. Your Other Responsibilities Concerning Registration for the Website
8.1 By registering for the Website under this Agreement, you certify to Pearson that: (a) the information you have provided to Pearson in order to register as an end user is complete, accurate and current; (b) you will notify Pearson within 15 days of any change in your registration information; and (c) that you will not share your login name/username and password except as expressly authorized under the terms of your license.
8.2 If any of these certifications is or becomes untrue, or if you do not comply in full with these requirements, Pearson has the right to suspend and/or terminate your access to the Website.
8.3 You are also responsible for obtaining and using all computer hardware and software required for your access to and use of the Website and for any charges incurred for your own access to the Website through an Internet access provider or other third party website.
8.4 You are responsible for all uses of the Website through your login name/username and password, whether the use is made by you personally or by someone else. You are responsible for protecting and securing your login name/username and password from unauthorized use and disclosure. In the event that you become aware of or believe there has been any breach of the Website, such as the theft or unauthorized use of your login name/username and password, you will notify Pearson immediately by contacting Pearson Customer Technical Support.

9. Termination of Access
9.1 If for any reason within the first 15 days of registering directly with Pearson via an eCommerce transaction you are dissatisfied with the Website, you can request a full refund, whereupon your access and this License will terminate. See Section 15.

This refund policy does not apply to use of an access code nor does this refund policy apply to purchases made through a retail store including, but not limited to, a campus bookstore.

9.2 Your access commences the day you submit the registration form and runs for the specified term defined whether or not the Website is used. Your obligations under this Agreement will exist until said term expires or the access is terminated by you or Pearson.

9.3 You may terminate this Agreement and your rights to use the Website at any time and without cause by notifying Pearson of your decision to terminate. See Section 15.

9.4 Pearson may, in its sole and absolute discretion, and with or without notice, suspend your access to all or any part of the Website, or terminate this Agreement and thus your rights to use the Website, for any conduct or use (whether by you or anyone else having access under your login name/username or password) that Pearson believes is a violation of this Agreement or for any other conduct or use that Pearson believes is harmful to other end users, Pearson's content providers, or to the Website or the interests of Pearson.

10. Your Remedies
10.1 Pearson's entire liability to you, and your sole and exclusive remedy, regarding the use of the Website shall be the replacement of a login name/username or password if a currently valid login name/username or password fails to allow access to the Website.

10.2 Your sole right with respect to any disagreement or dissatisfaction with (a) this Agreement, as modified from time to time, (b) registration cost or other charges for the use of the Website, (c) access to use of, or performance of the Website, or (d) any Website Content, is to terminate your access as provided for in Section 9.

11. Disclaimer of Warranties
11.1 THE WEBSITE AND ALL INFORMATION, CONTENT, MATERIALS AND SOFTWARE ACCESSIBLE THROUGH THE WEBSITE ARE PROVIDED ON AN "AS-IS," "AS-AVAILABLE" BASIS. THERE ARE NO WARRANTIES, EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, BY OPERATION OF LAW OR OTHERWISE, REGARDING OR RELATING TO PRODUCTS OR WEBSITES FURNISHED TO LICENSEEES UNDER THIS AGREEMENT OR IN CONNECTION WITH THE WEBSITE. PEARSON EXPRESSLY DISCLAIMS ALL WARRANTIES, EXPRESS AND IMPLIED, INCLUDING, BUT NOT LIMITED TO, WARRANTIES OF TITLE AND NONINFRINGEMENT AND THE IMPLIED WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY AND FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE. SOME STATES DO NOT ALLOW THE EXCLUSION OF IMPLIED WARRANTIES, SO THE ABOVE EXCLUSION MAY NOT APPLY TO YOU.

11.2 You expressly agree that your use of the Website is at your sole risk. Pearson does not warrant that the Website will be uninterrupted or error free; nor does it make any warranty as to the results that may be obtained from your use of the Website, or as to the accuracy, reliability, completeness, or content of any information, third party website, software or merchandise that may be provided through the Website. No statement, information or advice, including, but not limited to, statements regarding capacity, suitability for use or performance, whether made by a Pearson employee, reseller or other representative or otherwise, which is not contained in this agreement shall be deemed to be a warranty by Pearson for any purpose or give rise to any liability of Pearson whatsoever, and you agree that you will not rely on any such statement, information or advice.

11.3 Where Pearson is a distributor, rather than a publisher, of Materials accessible through the Website. Pearson exercises no editorial control over such Materials than does a typical public library, bookstore or newsstand. The views and opinions expressed in such information do not necessarily reflect those of Pearson or its content providers or licensors. Neither Pearson nor its content providers or licensors make any warranties or representations regarding the accuracy, adequacy, truthfulness, completeness, or usefulness of such information.

12. Limitation of Liability
12.1 UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES, INCLUDING NEGLIGENCE, SHALL PEARSON BE LIABLE TO YOU OR ANYONE ELSE FOR ANY INDIRECT, SPECIAL, INCIDENTAL, PUNITIVE, EXEMPLARY OR CONSEQUENTIAL DAMAGES (INCLUDING DAMAGES THAT ARISE FROM LOSS OF ANTICIPATED REVENUE, LOSS OF INFORMATION OR MATERIAL OF ANY KIND, LOST PROFITS, LOSS OF BUSINESS AND INJURY TO PROPERTY, EVEN IF PEARSON HAS BEEN ADVISED OF THE POSSIBILITY OF SUCH DAMAGES) THAT ARISE IN CONNECTION WITH OR RESULT FROM YOUR USE OF OR INABILITY TO USE THE WEBSITE INCLUDING, BUT NOT LIMITED TO, YOUR RELIANCE
ON ANY MATERIALS, CONTENT, INFORMATION, WEBSITES, SOFTWARE OR PRODUCTS OBTAINED ON THE WEBSITE, OR MISTAKES, OMISSIONS, INTERRUPTIONS, COMMUNICATIONS FAILURE, DELETION OF FILES OR E-MAIL, ERRORS, DEFECTS, VIRUSES, TROJAN HORSES, DELAYS IN OPERATION OR TRANSMISSION, OR ANY FAILURE OF PERFORMANCE, OR THEFT, DESTRUCTION OR UNAUTHORIZED ACCESS TO YOUR RECORDS, PROGRAMS OR WEBSITES. SOME STATES DO NOT ALLOW THE EXCLUSION OR LIMITATION OF LIABILITY FOR CONSEQUENTIAL OR INCIDENTAL DAMAGES, AND IN SUCH STATES PEARSON'S LIABILITY IS LIMITED TO THE GREATEST EXTENT PERMITTED BY LAW.

12. If, notwithstanding the foregoing, Pearson were to be held liable for damages, then regardless of the form of action (whether in contract, tort, breach of warranty or otherwise), in no event shall the maximum liability of Pearson and the parties described in the next sentence (Pearson's "Related Parties") exceed, either jointly or severally, the aggregate dollar amount paid by you to Pearson in the twelve (12) months prior to the claimed injury or damage. All of the provisions of this section are also for the benefit of Pearson's directors, officers, shareholders, employees, affiliates, agents, third-party content providers, licensors, and anyone else involved in creating, producing or distributing the Website, and each shall have the right to assert and enforce these provisions directly on their own behalf.

13. Indemnification by You
To the extent permitted by law, you agree to defend, indemnify and hold harmless Pearson and its Related Parties from any claims and expenses related to any violation of this Agreement by your use of the Website or in connection with the placement or transmission by you of any material on the Website except as expressly authorized in this Agreement.

14. Compliance with United States Export Requirements
This Agreement and your use of the Website are subject to any laws, regulations, orders or other restrictions on export from the United States of America (which we will call the "U.S.") of certain materials and technical data which may be imposed from time to time by the U.S. Government. Therefore, you will not transfer, directly or indirectly, by electronic means or otherwise, any Website Content, or any direct products thereof, to any country, or to any agent, representative, or foreign national of any country, for which the U.S. Government or any agency thereof requires an export license or other governmental approval at the time of export without first obtaining such license or approval. Pursuant to current restrictions of the U.S. Government, nationals of Cuba, Iran, Myanmar (Burma), North Korea, Sudan and Syria may not use or access the Website or Website Content at this time.

15. Notices
Pearson may give notice to you by electronic mail, by a posting on the Website, or by conventional mail. Notice by Pearson shall be effective on the date that Pearson makes a good faith effort to reach you. You shall give notice to Pearson as stated below. Notice by you shall be effective on the date that Pearson actually receives the notice.

Online: Pearson Customer Technical Support
Website http://247.pearsoned.com

U.S. mail: Pearson Education Customer Technical Support 75 Arlington Street, Suite 300 Boston, MA 02116

Notice of change to your registration information as referenced under Section 8 is to be done through your online Pearson Account Profile accessible via the Website or through Pearson Customer Technical Support.

16. Miscellaneous
16.1 This Agreement is personal to you, and you may not assign, transfer or delegate your rights or obligations to anyone. This Agreement, your and Pearson's rights and obligations, and any disputes or disagreements regarding the Website will be governed by the laws of the U.S. that govern contracts wholly entered into and wholly performed within New York. This Agreement will not be governed by the United Nations Convention on Contracts for the International Sale of Goods. Any and all actions, disputes or controversies relating to the Agreement or the Website will be decided by courts of competent jurisdiction, and you consent to the jurisdiction and venue of those courts and irrevocably consent to the process document, delivered personally or mailed by certified or registered mail, return receipt requested, at the address set forth in your registration information.

16.2 If you are an office, agency or branch of the United States Government, you are provided the Website as a commercial item and with only those rights as are set forth in this Agreement, pursuant to 48 C.F.R. 12.212 and 48 C.F.R. 227.7202-1 through 227.7202-4, and corresponding sections of applicable and corresponding agency Federal Acquisition Regulations ("FARs").

16.3 In the event that any provision of this Agreement is held to be invalid or unenforceable, pursuant to judicial decree or decision, the remainder of this Agreement shall remain valid and enforceable according to its terms.

16.4 You acknowledge that Pearson will be irreparably harmed by any breach of this Agreement by you or by your unauthorized use of the Website or Website Content and, further, that monetary damages may not be a sufficient remedy for such harm. You agree that Pearson shall be entitled, without waiving any other rights or remedies and without further demonstration of irreparable harm or the inadequacy of monetary damages, to obtain injunctive or other equitable relief in the event of any breach of this Agreement by you or by your unauthorized use of the Website or Website Content.

16.5 In addition to being a part of the registration form, this Agreement resides on the Website under the License Agreement link so that you may reference it at any time.

16.6 This Agreement is the entire agreement between Pearson and you with respect to the Website. Headings in this Agreement are for your convenience only and do not have any legal meaning or effect. If any part of this Agreement is invalid, the rest of this Agreement will remain in effect. If Pearson waives or fails to enforce any term or condition of this Agreement on any one or more occasions, whether by conduct or otherwise, its waiver or failure to enforce will not mean that it must waive or cannot enforce such term or condition on any other occasion, or any other term or condition of this Agreement. The meaning of this Agreement cannot be changed by your or Pearson’s conduct, even if repeated, or by any custom or practice of others engaged in the same or similar businesses.

SOFTWARE LICENSE AGREEMENT AND LIMITED WARRANTY

READ THIS LICENSE CAREFULLY BEFORE USING THIS SOFTWARE. By installing, copying or otherwise using the Software, you agree to be bound by the terms of this License Agreement. IF YOU DO NOT AGREE, DO NOT INSTALL THE SOFTWARE.

TestiGen and QuizMaster ("Software") are licensed, not sold, to you by Pearson Education. ("We" or the "Company") and in consideration of your purchase or adoption of an accompanying Company textbook and/or other materials and your agreement to these terms. We reserve any rights not granted to you. We and/or licensors own the Software itself. This license allows you to use and display the Software on unlimited number of computers on a local area network at a single campus or branch or geographic location of an educational institution, for academic use only, so long as you comply with the terms of this Agreement.

RESTRICTIONS: You may not transfer or distribute the Software or documentation to anyone else. Except for backup, you may not copy the documentation or the Software. You may not reverse engineer, disassemble, decompile, modify, adapt, translate, or create derivative works based on the Software or the Documentation. You may be held legally responsible for any copying or copyright infringement, which is caused by your failure to abide by the terms of these restrictions.

TERMINATION: This license is effective until terminated. This license will terminate automatically without notice from the Company if you fail to comply with any provisions or limitations of this license. Upon termination, you shall destroy the Documentation and all copies of the Software. All provisions of this Agreement as to limitation and disclaimer of warranties, limitation of liability, remedies or damages, and our ownership rights shall survive termination.

LIMITED WARRANTY AND DISCLAIMER OF WARRANTY: Company warrants that for a period of 60 days from the date you purchase or adopt the accompanying textbook and/or other materials, the Software, when properly installed and used in accordance with the Documentation, will operate in substantial conformity with the description of the Software set forth in the Documentation. The Company does not warrant that the Software will meet your requirements or that the operation of the Software will be uninterrupted or error-free. Your only remedy and the Company's only obligation under these limited warranties is, at the Company's option, return of the disk for a refund of any amounts paid for it by you or replacement of the disk. THIS LIMITED WARRANTY IS THE ONLY WARRANTY PROVIDED BY THE COMPANY AND ITS LICensors, AND THE COMPANY AND ITS LICensors DISCLAIM ALL OTHER WARRANTIES, EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, INCLUDING WITHOUT LIMITATION, THE IMPLIED WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY AND FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE. THE COMPANY DOES NOT WARRANT, GUARANTEE OR MAKE ANY REPRESENTATION REGARDING THE ACCURACY, RELIABILITY, CURRENTNESS, USE, OR RESULTS OF USE, OF THE SOFTWARE.
LIMITATION OF REMEDIES AND DAMAGES: IN NO EVENT, SHALL THE COMPANY OR ITS EMPLOYEES, AGENTS, LICENSORS, OR CONTRACTORS BE LIABLE FOR ANY INCIDENTAL, INDIRECT, SPECIAL, OR CONSEQUENTIAL DAMAGES ARISING OUT OF OR IN CONNECTION WITH THIS LICENSE OR THE SOFTWARE, INCLUDING FOR LOSS OF USE, LOSS OF DATA, LOSS OF INCOME OR PROFIT, OR OTHER LOSSES, SUSTAINED AS A RESULT OF INJURY TO ANY PERSON, OR LOSS OF OR DAMAGE TO PROPERTY, OR CLAIMS OF THIRD PARTIES, EVEN IF THE COMPANY OR AN AUTHORIZED REPRESENTATIVE OF THE COMPANY HAS BEEN ADVISED OF THE POSSIBILITY OF SUCH DAMAGES. IN NO EVENT SHALL THE LIABILITY OF THE COMPANY FOR DAMAGES WITH RESPECT TO THE SOFTWARE EXCEED THE AMOUNTS ACTUALLY PAID BY YOU, IF ANY, FOR THE SOFTWARE OR THE ACCOMPANYING TEXTBOOK. SOME JURISDICTIONS DO NOT ALLOW THE LIMITATION OF LIABILITY IN CERTAIN CIRCUMSTANCES, THE ABOVE LIMITATIONS MAY NOT ALWAYS APPLY.

GENERAL: THIS AGREEMENT SHALL BE CONSTRUED IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA AND THE STATE OF NEW YORK, APPLICABLE TO CONTRACTS MADE IN NEW YORK, AND SHALL BENEFIT THE COMPANY, ITS AFFILIATES AND ASIGNEES. This Agreement is the complete and exclusive statement of the agreement between you and the Company and supersedes all proposals, prior agreements, oral or written, and any other communications between you and the company or any of its representatives relating to the subject matter. ### Key Concepts with Content Outlines

Period 1

Key Concept 1.1 Big Geography and the Peopling of the Earth

1. Archeological evidence indicates that during the Paleolithic era, hunting foraging bands of humans gradually migrated from their origin in East Africa to Eurasia, Australia and the Americas, adapting their technology and cultures to new climate regions.

   - pp. 2-12

   - A. Humans used fire in new ways: to aid hunting and foraging, to protect against predators and to adapt to cold environments.
   - pp. 8-9

   - B. Humans developed a wider range of tools specially adapted to different environments from tropics to tundra.
   - pp. 8-12

   - C. Religion was most likely animistic.
   - p. 124

   - D. Economic structures focused on small kinship groups of hunting-foraging bands that could make what they needed to survive. However, not all groups were self-sufficient; they exchanged people, ideas and goods.
   - pp. 10-12

Key Concept 1.2 The Neolithic Revolution and Early Agricultural Societies

1. Beginning about 10,000 years ago, the Neolithic Revolution led to the development of new and more complex economic and social systems.

pp. 53-55

IV. Other religious and cultural traditions continued parallel to the codified, written belief systems in core civilizations.

A. Shamanism and animism continued to shape the lives of people within and outside of core civilizations because of their daily reliance on the natural world.

p. 44

p. 48

B. Ancestor veneration persisted in many regions (such as in Africa, the Mediterranean region, East Asia or the Andean areas).

p. 44

V. Artistic expressions, including literature and drama, architecture, and sculpture, show distinctive cultural developments.

A. Literature and drama acquired distinctive forms (such as Greek tragedy or Indian epics) that influenced artistic developments in neighboring regions and in later time periods (such as in Athens, Persia or South Asia).

pp. 92-97

B. Distinctive architectural styles can be seen in Indian, Greek, Mesoamerican and Roman buildings.

p. 60

C. The convergence of Greco-Roman culture and Buddhist beliefs affected the development of unique sculptural developments, as seen in the Gandhara Buddhas, which exemplify a syncretism in which Hellenistic veneration for the body is combined with Buddhist symbols.

C. South Asia: Maurya and Gupta Empires

pp. 60-77
D. Mediterranean region: Phoenician and Greek colonization, Hellenistic and Roman Empires

II. Empires and states developed new techniques of imperial administration based, in part, on the success of earlier political forms.

A. In order to organize their subjects, the rulers created administrative institutions, including centralized governments, elaborate legal systems and bureaucracies (such as in China, Persia, Rome or South Asia).

B. Imperial governments projected military power over larger areas using a variety of techniques, including diplomacy; developing supply lines; building fortifications, defensive walls and roads; and drawing new groups of military officers and soldiers from the local populations or conquered peoples.

C. Much of the success of the empires rested on their promotion of trade and economic integration by building and maintaining roads and issuing currencies.

III. Imperial societies displayed unique social and economic dimensions.

A. Cities served as centers of trade, public performance of religious rituals, and as political administration for states and empires (such as Persepolis, Chang'an, Pataliputra, Athens, Carthage, Rome, Alexandria, Constantinople or Teotihuacan).

B. The social structures of all empires displayed hierarchies that included cultivators, laborers, slaves, artisans, merchants, elites and caste groups.

C. Imperial societies relied on a range of labor systems to maintain the production of food and provide rewards for the loyalty of the elites, including corvée, slavery, rents and tributes, peasant communities, and family and household production.

D. Patriarchy continued to shape gender and family relations in all imperial societies of this period.

Key Concept 3.1: Expansion and Intensification of Communication and Exchange Networks

I. Improved transportation technologies and commercial practices led to an increased volume of trade, and expanded the geographical range of existing and newly active trade networks.

A. Existing trade routes, including the Silk Roads, the Mediterranean Sea, Trans-Saharan and the Indian Ocean basins, flourished and promoted the growth of powerful new trading cities (such as — to mention just a few — Novgorod, Timbuktu, Swahili city-states, Hangzhou, Calicut, Baghdad, Melaka and Venice, or in the Americas, Tenochtitlan or Cahokia).
B. The growth of interregional trade in luxury goods (such as silk and cotton textiles, porcelain, spices, precious metals and gems, slaves or exotic animals) was encouraged by significant innovations in previously existing transportation and commercial technologies, including more sophisticated caravan organization (such as caravanserais or camel saddles); use of the compass, astrolabe and larger ship designs in sea travel; and new forms of credit and monetization (such as bills of exchange, credit, checks or banking houses).

C. Commercial growth was also facilitated by new state practices (such as the minting of coins or use of paper money), new trading organizations (such as the Hanseatic League) and new state-sponsored commercial infrastructures like the Grand Canal in China.

D. The expansion of existing empires — including China, the Byzantine Empire and the Caliphates — as well as new empires (such as the Mongols) facilitated Trans-Eurasian trade and communication as new peoples were drawn into their conquerors’ economies and trade networks.

II. The movement of peoples caused environmental and linguistic effects.

A. The expansion and intensification of long-distance trade routes often depended on peoples’ understanding of a particular regional environment and their subsequent technological adaptations to them (such as the way Scandinavian Vikings used their longships to travel in coastal and open waters as well as in rivers and estuaries, the way the Arabs and Berbers adapted camels to travel across and around the Sahara, or the way Central Asian pastoral groups used horses to travel in the steppes).
B. Some migrations had a significant environmental impact, including the migration of the agricultural Bantu-speaking peoples in forested regions of Sub-Saharan Africa, and the maritime migrations of the Polynesian peoples who cultivated transplanted foods and domesticated animals as they moved to new islands.

C. Some migrations and commercial contacts led to the diffusion of languages throughout a new region or the emergence of new languages (for example, the spread of Bantu languages, the new language of Swahili that developed in East African coastal areas, or the spread of Turkic and Arabic languages).

III. Cross-cultural exchanges were fostered by the intensification of existing, or the creation of new, networks of trade and communication.

A. Islam expanded from the Arabian Peninsula to many parts of Afro-Eurasia due to military expansion and the activities of merchants and missionaries.

B. In key places along important trade routes, merchants set up diasporic communities where they introduced their own cultural traditions into the indigenous culture (such as Muslim merchant communities in the Indian Ocean region, Chinese merchant communities in Southeast Asia, Sogdian merchant communities throughout Central Asia or Jewish communities in the Mediterranean, Indian Ocean basin, or along the Silk Roads).

C. The writings of certain interregional travelers (such as Ibn Battuta, Marco Polo or Xuanzang) illustrate both the extent and the limitations of intercultural knowledge and understanding.

II. The fate of cities varied greatly, with periods of significant decline, and with periods of increased urbanization buoyed by rising productivity and expanding trade networks.

A. Factors that contributed to declines of urban areas in this period included invasions, disease, the decline of agricultural productivity and the Little Ice Age.

B. Factors that contributed to urban revival included the end of invasions, the availability of safe and reliable transport, the rise of commerce and the warmer temperatures between 800 and 1300. Increased agricultural productivity and subsequent rising population and greater availability of labor also contributed to urban growth.

C. While cities in general continued to play the roles they had played in the past as governmental, religious and commercial centers, many older cities declined at the same time that numerous new cities took on these established roles.

III. Despite significant continuities in social structures and in methods of production, there were also some important changes in labor management and in the effect of religious conversion on gender relations and family life.

A. As in the previous period, the main forms of labor organization included free peasant agriculture, nomadic pastoralism, craft production and guild organization, along with various forms of coerced and unfree labor and government-imposed labor taxes and military obligations.

B. As in the previous period, social structures were shaped largely by class and caste hierarchies. Patriarchy persisted; however, in some areas, women exercised more power and influence, most notably among the Mongols and in West Africa, Japan and Southeast Asia.

VII. As merchants’ profits increased and governments collected more taxes, funding for the visual and performing arts, even for popular audiences, increased.

A. Innovations in visual and performing arts (such as Renaissance art in Europe, miniature paintings in the Middle East and South Asia, wood-block prints in Japan or post-conquest codices in Mesoamerica) were seen all over the world.

B. Literacy expanded and was accompanied by the proliferation of popular literary forms in Europe and Asia (such as Shakespeare, Cervantes, Sundiata, Journey to the West or Kabuki).

Key Concept 4.2 New Forms of Social Organization and Modes of Production

I. Traditional peasant agriculture increased and changed, plantations expanded, and demand for labor increased. These changes both fed and responded to growing global demand for raw materials and finished products.

A. Peasant labor intensified in many regions (such as the development of frontier settlements in Russian Siberia, cotton textile production in India or silk textile production in China).

| C. While many migrants permanently relocated, a significant number of temporary and seasonal migrants returned to their home societies (such as Japanese agricultural workers in the Pacific, Lebanese merchants in the Americas or Italians in Argentina). | pp. 544-546
| | pp. 563-572
| | pp. 594-597  |
| III. The large-scale nature of migration, especially in the 19th century, produced a variety of consequences and reactions to the increasingly diverse societies on the part of migrants and the existing populations. | pp. 520-525
| | p. 542
| | pp. 556-557
| | pp. 563-572  |
| A. Due to the physical nature of the labor in demand, migrants tended to be male, leaving women to take on new roles in the home society that had been formerly occupied by men. | pp. 556-557
| | pp. 563-572  |
| B. Migrants often created ethnic enclaves (such as concentrations of Chinese or Indians in different parts of the world), which helped transplant their culture into new environments and facilitated the development of migrant support networks. | p. 542
| | pp. 556-557
| | pp. 563-572  |
| C. Receiving societies did not always embrace immigrants, as seen in the various degrees of ethnic and racial prejudice and the ways states attempted to regulate the increased flow of people across their borders (such as the Chinese Exclusion Act or the White Australia Policy). | pp. 563-572  |

Governments also used a variety of strategies, including political speeches, art, media and intensified forms of nationalism, to mobilize these populations.</td>

V. Although conflict dominated much of the 20th century, many individuals and groups — including states — opposed this trend. Some individuals and groups, however, intensified the conflicts.

A. Groups and individuals challenged the many wars of the century (such as Picasso in his Guernica, the antinuclear movement during the Cold War or Thich Quang Duc by self-immolation), and some promoted the practice of nonviolence (such as Tolstoy, Gandhi or Martin Luther King) as a way to bring about political change.

B. Groups and individuals opposed and promoted alternatives to the existing economic, political and social orders (such as the Non-Aligned Movement, which presented an alternative political bloc to the Cold War; the Tiananmen Square protesters that promoted democracy in China; the Anti-Apartheid Movement; or participants in the global uprisings of 1968).

C. Militaries and militarized states often responded to the proliferation of conflicts in ways that further intensified conflict (such as the promotion of military dictatorship in Chile, Spain and Uganda; the United States’ promotion of a New World Order after the Cold War; or the buildup of the “military-industrial complex” and arms trading).

D. More movements (such as the IRA, ETA or Al-Qaeda) used terrorism to achieve political aims.

E. Global conflicts had a profound influence on popular culture (such as Dada, James Bond, Socialist Realism or video games).
